Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE
Howard C. Allen, energetic secretary of the Fayette County Automobile Club, has not let a little thing like metal shortage prevent him from obtaining emblems of the Fayette County, State and American Automobile Associations.
He has them on transfer sheets, whereby the emblem may be transferred from a sheet of paper to the windshield or car window in a few moments time.
Of course the emblems are paper but they answer the purpose in fine style, and cost members only 10 cents each.
Elmer Zimmerman left a quart of unusually fine sweet cherries which are from the Zimmerman orchards . . . largest commercial orchards in the county . . . when he stopped in the office.
Elmer told me the name of the big cherries, but I have no idea now what the name is.
Anyway the luscious cherries, which Elmer cautioned me to eat raw for greatest enjoyment, have some flavor!
With more bicycles now seen in use on the streets of Washington C. H. than for years, perhaps ever before, I have been informed by one of my young friends who takes particular care of his "transportation" of a number of rules he particularly follows in looking after his piece of valuable property of this kind.
Boys and girls too, have their tire problems. Many of them regard the care of their bicycles as being fully as important as the care of the family motor car, perhaps more so because it is lighter and more easily damaged.
Getting back to the young men who have told me with great seriousness about taking care of a "bike", he advises that the greatest enemy of a bike tire is heat, which softens it and makes it wear much faster. So the owner should not ride on a hot pavement any more than he has to. The next-worst-enemy is oil or tar, which eats into the rubber and dissolves it. Better keep off the pavement where they appear, and clean off the tires carefully when they get smeared. Aside from these precautions, the most important thing is to keep up the pressure. A soft tire is easily punctured and wears out fast. Pretty good advice.
Hearing the Court House clock strike several times out of town. Monday, I investigated and found that the Civilian Defense Committee had a rope attached to the special hammer on the ball to be used in case of an air raid warning, as well as for sounding the "riot call" in case Special Weapons Company of the Ohio State Guard is wanted to mobilize at once.
Col Rell G. Allen, who is one of the men active in the Civilian Defense organization, also stated that a steamboat-type of whistle has been ordered and when it arrives, will be attached to one of the factories here to be sounded in case of air-raid alarm.
It is expected that this whistle can be heard for many miles, and plans call for a series of three short whistles and one long one—the Morse code for Victory.
In all probability when all is in readiness, a test will be made as if a real air raid were expected.
Apparently the tire shortage is not halting all interstate automobile traffic, for I notice a large number of automobiles bearing license plates from other states pass through the city daily.
These license plates include nearly every state in the union, with many from Kentucky, Indiana, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New York and Tennessee in the lead.
Tuesday morning within 10 minutes I saw two Pennsylvania cars, one Alabama, one Texas and a New Hampshire car pass through Court Street. Only one of them stopped.
Apparently a great many auto owners have mighty good tires or the idea that by a miracle they can get other tires when the present ones are gone.

THIRD DISASTER IS INFLICTED ON INVASION FLEET

First in Coral Sea, Second Off Midway Island and Now on Aleutians
JAP NAVY LOSSES HEAVY
Air Assault by U. S. Fliers Not Yet Ended in Far North Pacific Waters

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(P)—The Japanese navy appeared today to be reeling under the third smashing attack it has suffered at the hands of the American air forces in as many operational areas of the Pacific.
Following up the Coral Sea and Midway Island victories, in the southwestern and middle Pacific areas respectively, the Navy Department reported late yesterday American fliers were pounding a Japanese invasion force off the Aleutian Islands.
Reports of the battle were inconclusive, but Japanese losses listed thus far included the sinking of one cruiser and the damaging of one aircraft carrier, at least three cruisers, one destroyer, one gunboat and one transport. Damage to some of the vessels was described as severe.
There were no reports of American losses.
In a communique breaking its three-day silence on what appears to have been a desperate attempt by the Japanese to gain a foothold on the barren, rocky island chain stretching away from Alaska, the navy said attack operations were continuing by both army and navy fliers.
"Except for these continuing air attacks upon the enemy landing parties and their supporting naval contingents," the communique said, "the general situation in the Aleutian Islands appears unchanged."
This was taken to mean the enemy had failed to improve his position over the week end and by landing at any point other than Attu, 769 nautical miles from Dutch Harbor.
Attu, which is surrounded by treacherous reefs, and is almost constantly fogbound, was considered of little military value.
In addition to Attu, the enemy was reported last Friday to have sent a few ships into the little harbor at Kiska. Today authorities said they had been driven out.
While the latest engagement apparently has not yet been resolved, strategists were inclined to believe the imperial command had suffered paralyzing defeats in three major campaigns:
1. To sever the American supply line through the Coral Sea, preliminary to an attempt to invade Australia.
2. To capture Midway Island and use it as a springboard for a grand assault on Pearl Harbor.
3. To establish bases in the

It was reported by the U. S. Navy Department that the Japs made good their seizure of this outlying island while weather conditions made U. S. aerial reconnaissance impossible.

Compromise Looms For Farm Program

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, June 16.—(P)—A compromise that would permit farmers to obtain full parity loans on major crops and still allow the government to sell surplus wheat at a lower price was reported under White House consideration today.
The proposal was said to have been advanced by some members of a joint conference committee, striving to break a Senate-House deadlock on major features of the annual $680,000,000 farm appropriations bill.
Chief element of the controversy has been a Senate amendment authorizing the government to sell up to 125,000,000 bushels of wheat for livestock feeding purposes at about 83 cents a bushel instead of the full parity price of $1.34 a bushel.
The House insisted on the latter figure and some senators have advocated its adoption but there have been reports that President Roosevelt might veto the bill if this were done.
The Senate yesterday approved and sent to the House a revised version of a bill authorizing federal grants for the dependents of service men in the four lowest ranks.
Mandatory reductions would be made from the pay of these men and more than matched by federal allowances in most cases to provide $50 a month for a wife, $12 monthly for the first child, $10 for each additional child and other amounts for other relatives.
The Selective Service system also would be authorized to classify those subject to the draft with the idea of inducting married men only after classes of single men had been exhausted.

PILOT TAKES DEATH TO SAVE 200 OTHERS

Plane Crashed but Hangar Saved by Ohioan
SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—(P)—Army pilots at Mills Field said today Lieut. James H. Mitchell of Cleveland, O., chose death for himself in preference to death or injuries for 200 others.
Lieut. Mitchell, they said, crashed his fighter plane yesterday to avoid hitting 200 men in a hangar. As it was, the plane hit a side of the big building, killed Mitchell and an enlisted man on the ground and set fire to the hangar.
Mitchell is the son of Mrs. T. W. Mitchell of Cleveland.
Eyewitnesses said Mitchell's fast ship developed motor trouble as it came down near the hangar for a landing.
Mitchell left a pre-medical course at Marietta (O.) college to enter aviation, said his mother at Cleveland.

NAVY HOLD UP WARSHIPS FOR MORE PLANES

Plans for Building Huge New Battleships Deferred for Increasing Air Power
AIRCRAFT CARRIERS MADE
Senate Committeemen Say Decision Already Has Been Reached by Navy

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(P)—Two members of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee said today that Navy officials had decided to defer all plans for huge new battleships in order to concentrate upon expanding fighting power in the air.
Senators Ellender (D., La.) and Brewster (R., Me.) in separate interviews said that top ranking admirals had informed them that no new battleships would be started and that plans for cruisers now underway were being concerted so that these would be completed as aircraft carriers.
"The Navy finally has decided it must have more airpower to protect our present fleet," Ellender said. "Some of the cruisers being converted were pretty well along."
Senator Brewster said that the new decision would mean abandonment for the present of Navy plans for constructing five huge super battleships of 60,000 tons each "that were to have been the largest things afloat."
An $855,000,000 ship construction measure—an unprecedented program designed ultimately to double the size of the United States fleet—was approved today by the house naval committee.
The measure, demonstrating the navy's increasing emphasis on plane carrier and pointedly omitting any provision for new battleships, will provide for more than 1,400 ships of all types, including more than 400 combatant craft in the carrier-cruiser-destroyer category.

"He was simply looking for a place to hang his hat," retorted Bronx County Judge James M. Barrett.
Mrs. Clara Rohr, wife No. 5, said that she still loved him and that he "was a good man and he was treating me well."

First Attack on Jap Fleet In Midway Battle Made at Night By Torpedo Planes

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN
PEARL HARBOR, T. H., June 16.—(P)—How the U. S. Navy's long-range patrol bombers discovered the Japanese fleet off Midway, a night torpedo attack against the invaders, and thrilling rescues of navy fliers from rubber life boats were disclosed today in new accounts of the battle.
Captain Logan Ramsey of Philadelphia, operations officer for the Army, Navy and Marine Corps land-based planes at Midway Island, said the night torpedo attack was the first time in history the planes had been so operated.
The crew of one patrol plane, forced down by fuel shortage, was eight days at sea fighting off sharks.
Ramsey said the achievements of the large patrol bombers (PB's) in attacking the enemy formed one of the greatest chapters in the newest form of naval action.
He estimated the Japanese threw several hundred aircraft into the battle. Other reports have stated most of the enemy planes were destroyed.
Surrounded by heroes of the engagement, Captain Ramsey outlined the general action and each in turn filled in the details.
He said Ensign Jewell Reid, 28, of Paducah, Ky., made the first discovery of the Japanese fleet June 3.
Here is Reid's story:
"We had a job to do and tried to do our utmost."
"Before dawn on June 3 we left Midway on a routine patrol. Hundreds of miles out in mid-morning we sighted several ob- jects dead ahead but they were not distinguishable at our high altitude. We closed in and made

German Drive in Libya Is Slowed Up but in China Situation Critical
BULLETIN
LONDON, June 16.—(P)—New supplies have been delivered successfully to the garrisons at Malta and Tobruk, it was announced officially tonight.

By RODGER D. GREENE
(By The Associated Press)
The United States Army Air Force, in action for the first time alongside the RAF in the central and eastern Mediterranean, was credited officially today with a part in a smashing air and sea assault in which two Italian battleships were set afire, a 10,000-ton cruiser was sunk and a smaller cruiser and destroyer were damaged.
The RAF announcement in a special communique from Cairo that American fliers had been in the Mediterranean fight for the last four days began to bring into focus the picture of the thundering sea-air fight in the straits between Italy and Africa which the Axis previously had sought to pass off as their own success.
The communique said that a number of hits were scored on Italian battleships and fires caused by torpedo planes attacking from bases on Malta and in Africa Monday morning "and by a force of Liberators aircraft, the majority of which were American manned by the United States Army Air Corps."
One Italian cruiser of the Trento class was set afire by bombs and sunk by an aircraft torpedo, the communique said.
The Italian fleet turned northward Monday afternoon and during last night "were shadowed as they returned to base."
The Italian high command announced in a broadcast today the loss of a heavy Italian cruiser, destruction of an Allied cruiser and two destroyers, and damage to 12 more in a series of heavy naval and air battles in the central Mediterranean on Monday.
(There was no confirmation of the Italian report from any other sources. The Italian communique indicated that at least some of the list of Allied losses were in addition to the announcement yesterday that seven Allied ships were sunk, although it was not clear on this point).
The fighting centered around two large British convoys, one eastbound, the other westbound.
A German broadcast, quoting informed Italian quarters, said the two convoys consisted of 87 ships, probably including a United States battleship.
The broadcast said a westbound convoy included 11 freighters, eight cruisers and 33 other escort ships, while an eastbound convoy included seven cargo ships escorted by a battleship, two aircraft carriers, five cruisers and 20 torpedo boats.
It was the first British convoy to attempt the perilous eastbound run through the Mediterranean in four months.
War in Libya
U. S. Army and Navy fliers pressed home a third great victory over Japanese invasion forces in the Aleutian Islands off Alaska today while in North Africa the flaming desert battle between British and Axis armies appeared to be reaching a finale.

Allies Helping Russia in Far East, Yank Planes in Turkey Indicate

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Wide World News Service)

Speaking of second fronts—the appearance of an American bombing squadron in the white-hot southern Russo-German theater (as disclosed through the forced landing of four of our warplanes in Turkey) is a potent reminder that Anglo-American forces are based in the middle east ready to help the Russians.

Now that's of vast importance because, as I've pointed out more than once, this area which takes in Syria, Iraq and Iran is one of the vital strategic zones of the entire war. One can say that the side which controls the middle east has a mighty good grip on ultimate victory.

Not only is this territory of military value, but it possesses great resources.

London thinks the United States has opened up a new air front in the eastern Mediterranean. Maybe so, and maybe not. However, it's obvious that Yankee bombers went into battle to assist the Russians.

Certainly if Hitler should break into the Caucasus, which provides the Russian land-bridge between the Black and Caspian seas into the middle east, there is little doubt that the Anglo-American forces would come in to immediate action, thereby opening up a new front.

One highly important aspect of the middle eastern situation is that this territory lies up against Turkish borders, and the Allies thus are standing at Turkey's back like big brothers, encouraging her to remain firm in her effort to avoid giving aid to the Germans. The Turks are in a delicate position.

RAINS CAUSING FARMER'S WORK TO LAG BEHIND

Corn Plowing and Harvest Of Big Hay Crop Are Being Retarded

Continued rainfall in this community and other parts of Ohio, has resulted in the work of farmers being piled up as one delay after another occurs in cultivating corn, harvesting the large hay crop, and looking after other farm work.

Coming on top of recent heavy precipitation throughout the county, was still another rainfall early Tuesday, when 16 of an inch fell over this city up to 7 A. M. This rain seems to have been general in the county.

Tens of thousands of acres of corn are in urgent need of attention as soon as the ground can be worked, and a great many fields have not been touched with the cultivator up to the present time.

Damage to hay, due to continued rains, has also been reported, and the work is piling up on the farmers at a time when they can ill afford to lose a single hour.

There isn't too much water in the ground—it just has fallen at the wrong times, a check of rainfall records showed today.

Up to June 1 there was a deficiency of rain below normal on a statewide average. Since then, frequent heavy showers have wet down corn fields so that they could not be cultivated enough to keep weeds down.

In addition, rain has dampened out alfalfa in windrows and shocks so that it could not be dried enough for transfer to barn or stack.

Agriculture Director John T. Brown reported another headache for farmers was the necessity of building additional storage space for grains to be held on the farm instead of shipped to elevators which already hold surpluses from previous years.

Although recent rains are hampering farm work, they are a blessing in one way, state geologist Wilbur Stout said, since they will build up the underground water table and possibly save farmers from hauling water for stock this year.

George W. Nindling, U. S. meteorologist, said rainfall through May was near normal for the year and that June rains probably brought the year's total up to normal.

USO CAMPAIGN TO RAISE $3,800 NOW UNDERWAY

Workers Get Instructions And Explanations at 'Take-off' Meeting

With the theme that "you help somebody you know when you give to the USO, scores of solicitors today were making a house-to-house canvass in Washington C. H. to help raise $3,800 in a county-wide campaign in the interest of the men in the country's armed service.

In the rural sections "and county's villages, the campaign was underway, too, with each township assigned a quota as a guide for the committees.

The city drive was launched officially Tuesday morning following the "take-off" meeting in the Sunnyside School auditorium, where more than 60 leaders and workers were given explanations and instructions.

Talks were made by Carroll Halliday, the campaign chairman and several others interested in the USO effort to "give the boys in the service a home away from home."

Halliday emphasized to the solicitors the need of getting more than "chicken feed" donations as he added "we are asking our boys to give all—their time, the jobs and their lives if necessary—and the least we can do is to give a reasonable amount of our income to show our appreciation.

Walter Sollars told of a family visit to Chanute Field, Ill., where his son, Herbert Sollars, is in the service. He described the "wonderful service" there, both to the soldier and his family, by the USO. He said it is the "best insurance against homesickness you could invest money in."

Postmaster Emmett Passmore, a veteran of the first World War, gave the workers an added word of encouragement, saying that "this is the largest and most enthusiastic group yet to appear for any drives here. He told of the importance of the USO service against a background of his own experiences in the last war.

J. Roush Burton, treasurer of the campaign, explained some of the details of handling the finances and Walter Patton and W. J. Hilty gave the solicitors some idea of how the men in uniform feel about the USO by quoting from some of the many letters received from them in which they not only okeyed the USO but, in most cases, appealed to "the folks back home" to support the campaign to raise funds to maintain it.

Rev. W. S. Alexander of Jeffersonville delivered the invocation and made a short talk.

Group singing of appropriate and patriotic songs was led by Paul Fitzwater, the city music director. Miss Mary Jean Gage played the piano accompaniment.

out the objects to be enemy war-ships.

"We saw 11 ships, including two battleships and heavy cruisers and troop ships. We spent several hours in the vicinity getting all the information we could. I don't think we were seen."

"That night of June 3 we decided to launch a night torpedo attack by navy flying boats. It was a very hazardous mission. We wanted to hit some troopships and give the slant-eyes a bath. This was a difficult job. It had never been done before. The distances were very great."

Lieut. William Richards, 31, of Collingswood, N. J., executive officer to Ramsey related:

"When we came into sight of the enemy fleet it was quite visible. It was impossible to distinguish types but we saw two columns of large ships with several ships ahead and astern. They had no lights. They were heading straight for Midway."

"I gave the attack signal. We made a long straight approach to our objective and encountered no anti-aircraft fire. They didn't even know we were coming, so we were able to get in close and let go our torpedo without opposition."

"My two rear lookouts reported a huge explosion and heavy black smoke on the ship we attacked. Three of our ships dropped torpedoes, two of which definitely were hits. One hit was on a big troopship of about 8,000 tons. A second transport of about the same size was hit."

There were some 40 men in this historic mission.

Three of the flying boats got back to their bases. The one commanded by Lieut. Probst ran out of fuel and landed on the ocean. It floated on their rubber lifeboats for three days before they were rescued at 6:30 P. M., June 6.

FARMERS DO THEIR PART IN OLD RUBBER SALVAGE

COLUMBUS, June 16.—(P)—"Agriculture has an important stake in the scrap rubber drive," Chairman Elmer F. Kruse, of the Department of Agriculture War Board for Ohio, said today in urging farmers to scour their properties for the material.

Preliminary reports from Country Farm War Boards indicate that rural Ohio will produce substantial quantities of scrap rubber, Kruse added.

STORAGE WHEAT IS BEING MOVED TO STEEL BINS

Expect Transfer of 10,000 Bushels Daily Until Bins Are Full

Work of moving 190,000 bushels of government wheat from the Gwinn Elevators, where it has been in storage since last year, was started Monday afternoon when the first load was hauled by truck to an improvised hopper and blower equipment made by Virgil Vincent, and blown into the bins.

Harry Silcott and John Cannon, of the AAA; Virgil Vincent, of the Vincent Elevators and Willard McLean, of the Gwinn Elevators, along with a number of other persons, were present for the first work of transferring the wheat.

Vincent used a Ford motor and by some clever work, arranged a blower system for sucking the wheat from the big wooden hopper he had constructed, and blowing it into the bins.

He had assembled the equipment, not only for use in moving government wheat, but for moving wheat from trucks to temporary bins in connection with his own business.

The equipment has a capacity of approximately 800 bushels per hour, and plans call for moving 10,000 bushels daily from the Gwinn Elevators to make room for upward of 200,000 bushels of new wheat which will start pouring into the elevator soon after July first.

More than half of the bins, each with a storage capacity of 2,000 bushels, have been erected, and there are now more than three score on the ground, either completed or will be erected within a short time.

CHICAGO, June 16.—(P)—P. T. Hawkins reported on the rationing program in an address prepared for delivery to the mid-year convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

Dr. I. L. Pumphrey Loses Crown In Handicap Golf Tournament

Dr. I. L. Pumphrey has lost his handicap golf crown but his successor will not be determined for several weeks yet.

He was beaten by W. E. Seilkop in the first round of this year's tournament, which got underway two weeks ago. He put up a determined fight but succumbed on the extra hole after the nip and tuck battle over the regulation 18 holes had ended in a tie.

Four of the other ten matches played during the past week were keenly contested and not decided until the end was in sight. John Shackelford beat O. W. (Doc) House, 1 up; Dan Dev-ins, Sr., beat Glen Speaks, 1 up; Ed Cunningham eliminated Stanley Hagerty, 2 up and Ronnie Cornwell stopped Loring Brock, Jr., 2 up.

Stanley Mark swamped Harold Timmons, 7 up; Bill McLean put out F. E. Hill, 5 up; Glenn Roseboom eliminated Walter Jones, 5 up; Glenn Woodmansee stopped C. R. VanZant, 5 up and Marvin Thornburg ended C. G. Hayes' chances, 5 up.

The tourney is now in its second phase with two weeks allotted for playing the second round of elimination matches.

Out for First Time

Some new faces and some of the old reliables were out during the past week for the first time this season. Among those to whom the hand of welcome to 1942 play was extended were Mrs. Robert Hook, Miss Helen Hutson, Edgar Snyder, Elmer Junk and George A. Steen.

Walter (Weo) Ellis has been among the missing for several days and Glenn Rodgers, Ed Hunt and the rest of the cronies have been polishing off their game in preparation for some sort of proposition.

Brewers Crowd Blues for Lead With Double Win

(By The Associated Press)

Milwaukee's Brewers have pulled on their seven-league boots to take a giant's step toward first place in the American Association.

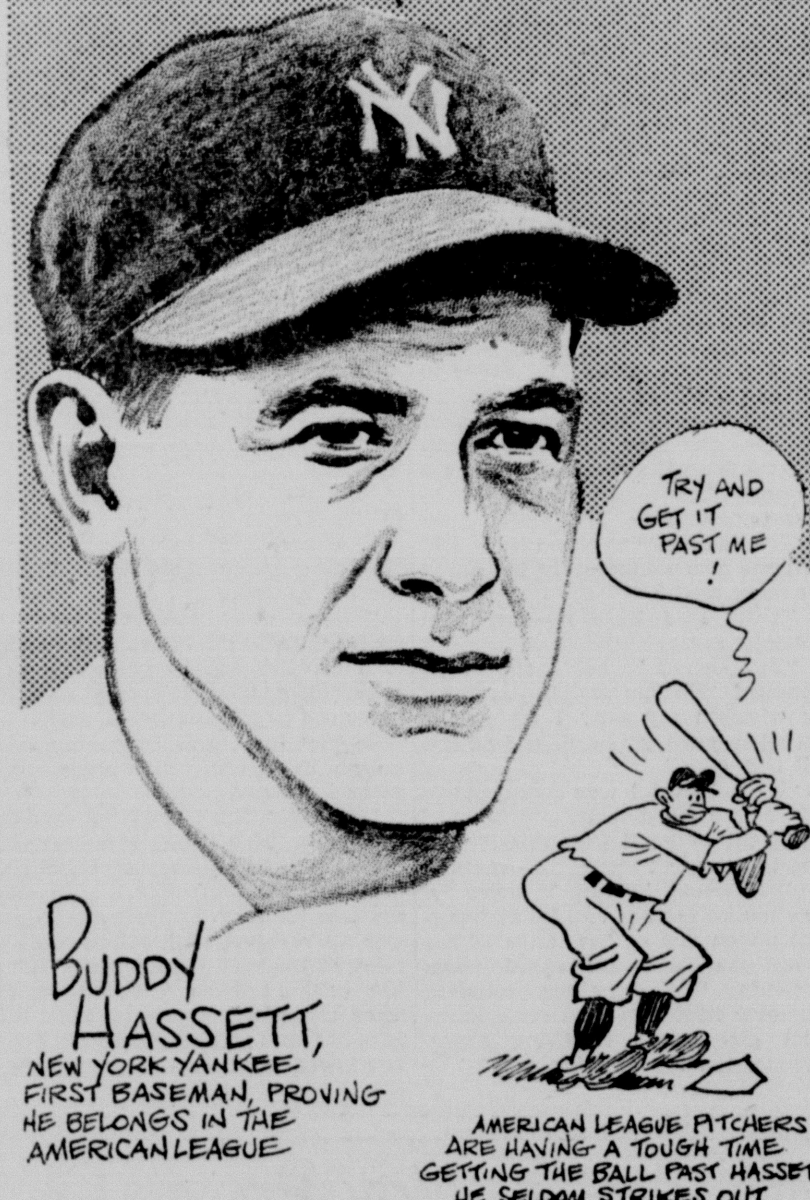

They swept a twin bill from Indianapolis last night to climb within one game of the idle league-leading Kansas City Blues.

Walter Lanfranconi pitched three-hit ball as Milwaukee captured the opener, 1-0, but a total of 30 base hits were clouted before the Brewers claimed a 9-3 victory in the nightcap.

Toledo was pushed deeper into the basement as Minneapolis won, 3-2.

Verdie Himsl posted his seventh victory on a 10-hit performance which was sufficient to give St. Paul a 6-3 count over Columbus. The Saints rallied behind the perfect batwork of Jake Powell who hit a double and three singles. Jim Gleason paced the Red Bird attack with two doubles and a single.

Fayette Grange And Catholics Win Loop Games

Two league games opened the second week of the softball season in Washington C. H. and Fayette County Monday night.

The Church League teams, St. Colman's and Christian's, opened the twin bill and St. Colman's won by a score of 10 to 5. In the first inning, the Christians led by one run, the score being 4 to 3. The first of the second for the Christians brought them in another run and their hopes were getting higher—until the Catholics came up to bat again. They scored 6 runs in this inning and it gave them a lead that could not be overcome.

Fayette Grangers Win

The second game, between two Grange teams, Fayette and Selden, brought more thrills to the medium sized crowd in the stands. The game was a battle from the first to the last, with not a run scored until the fifth inning, when the Fayette Grangers got four. In their half of the next inning they added on another 3 runs while the Selden crew had yet to score a run. However, it appeared as if they were saving their energy for a big rally, but it wasn't as big as they wanted it to be. They had a good start on catching up to their opponents and they scored three runs before they stopped. The game ended with Fayette Grange on the big end of the 7-3 score.

One game will be played Tuesday night at Wilson Field, weather permitting, and a large crowd is expected. It is sort of a "grudge game" with Lights and the American Legion trying for top honors.

This Industrial League game will start at 8:30 P. M.

The gatekeeper at Wilson Field, Alfred Browne, has made this announcement about the people who get into the game by going under the fence: "The price of admission is so small, only 6 cents, that everyone ought to be honest enough to pay this small amount."

SWEET REVENGE! PASSEAU STILL IS GETTING HIS

Dodgers Held To Five Hits And 6-0 Shutout by Cub Hurler—Giants Win

By SID FEDER (By the Associated Press)

The moral of this piece is: never throw a bean ball at Claude Passeau.

One of those slants tossed by Hugh Casey two years ago got Claude so steamed up he's been taking it out on the Dodgers ever since.

Claude was so peeved that afternoon of July 19, 1940 at Wrigley Field that he started to take on the whole Brooklyn ball club, bare-knuckled. These antics so shocked National League Prexy Ford Frick that he pinned a $75 fine on the Chicago Cubs' ace elbow.

Ever since then, the man from Millsaps has been taking that "six bits" out, a la shlyock. In the course of two years, he's knocked off Brooklyn seven times and lost only two games.

Right now he's pretty warm for June—or any other month. He hasn't been beaten since May 5. So last evening, Manager Jimmy Wilson asked him to go out there against the Brooklyn. He served up a five-hitter and he didn't let a Dodger get past second. In fact, only two got as far as that. And with the help of some fair country clouting by Lou Novikoff, Bill Nicholson and James (Double-X) Foxx, he walked home with a 6-0 decision.

The triumph moved the Cubs back into fifth place and dropped the Pittsburgh Pirates into sixth, because the Bucs lost the only other game on the big league schedule yesterday. This was a 6-2 setback pinned on them by the New York Giants.

The American League's eastern clubs open their western swing today, and the National League's east entertains the folks from the west. Except that Brooklyn and the Cubs will take the day off to rest up.

Better Duck Hunting, Eh! Waterfowl in U. S. Increased Last Year by the Millions as Result of 'Sound Management,' Says Wildlife Service

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Waterfowl of the United States, the prize game of thousands of hunters, increased last year by 30,000,000, a number equal to the entire population of such birds in 1935, the Fish and Wildlife Service estimates.

This is the biggest increase ever noted in any one year.

The service said about 100,000,000 waterfowl returned to nesting regions this spring, compared with an estimated 70,000,000 a year ago, and fewer than 30,000,000 when the first inventory was taken in 1935.

"This report of a once seriously threatened resource that has increased annually and tripled in seven years shows the beneficial results of sound management," Service Director Ira N. Gabrielson said. He pointed to regulatory action reducing the annual take by sportsmen and to the establishment of 178 refuges of more than 3,500,000 acres as the two outstanding features of the waterfowl program.

Numerical gains were noted in the inventory this year for all species of ducks except the black duck of the east, which appeared to be "slightly less numerous" than last year.

Special attention was called by the service to the fact that the canvasback, the redhead and the ruddy duck, whose future seemed very dark only a few years ago, now exist in numbers that under wise management should assure their status for the future.

"Impressive gains" also were reported for the wood duck, added last year to the list of shootable birds for the first time since the Migratory Bird Treaty Act in 1918. Despite the take by hunters in several states last fall, the wood duck now is probably more numerous than in the past decade.

Satisfaction also was expressed by the Service on reports of increases in the numbers of snow geese and Atlantic brant.

FUTURE AIR TRAVEL
Inspired by the enormously effective part which the airplane has played in this war, we are getting a bit over-enthusiastic about post-war probabilities.

Already, in a casual way, we are talking about a time not far distant when family planes will be as common as family flivvers are today.

We take for granted the prophecies that after the war, huge aircraft will largely supplant trains on land and ships at sea in the business of transporting both passengers and freight.

Though probably we don't really argue that far, we envision hazily the day, soon after we have pounded the Axis out of existence, when we shall fly to the un-mourned funerals of the automobile and the railroad and the steamship.

Such a dream could come true, of course. In speed, in carrying capacity, in ease of control and in fundamental safety, the airplane has made unbelievable strides.

Without doubt, after this war airline's passenger, express and freight businesses will be multiplied many fold.

We shall have thousands of huge planes, built as bombers and transports and war freighters, plus the capacity to turn out more thousands every year.

The railroads and steamship lines will face intense competition. Efficient plants, which have been making fighters and trainers, undoubtedly will do their best to sell us family planes in place of automobiles.

But that is only one side of the picture. The men who design and manufacture planes tell us, truly, such developments are mechanically feasible. The man who will have to find the income to pay the expenses wants to know about some other phases.

Huge bombers are built to give super-speed, to fly at extreme altitudes, regardless of the cost of construction or operation. Governments at war can't worry unduly about economy. But experts say these big planes will need a whale of a lot of revamping before anybody can use them to haul payloads in a self-supporting business venture. Moreover, there is a question how much freight and how many passengers are in sufficient hurry to pay the premiums to finance air transport.

As for family planes, did you ever stop to think how much more extensive terminal facilities, involving how much greater tax cost, are required for a plane than for an automobile? Do you know how your community could finance such costly improvements, at the same time maintaining streets and highways—for, of course, the plane owner must have a car to travel from home to airport.

None of these problems is insoluble. Some aren't even relatively difficult. The point is that such problems, and dozens

CITY AND COUNTRY
The old and foolish views which some city people are said to have had for country people have nearly vanished. It started fading when the automobile brought farm and town together and, after a little shaking down on both sides, made it evident that they were about the same kind of people. Bonds strengthened as city children increasingly spent their summer vacations on farms, fascinated by the freedom and wonder of such life. There they not only played, but learned lessons as valuable as those taught in school. Meanwhile farm boys and girls were getting better acquainted with town life. By this time the old barriers and prejudices are largely gone.

But city and country should mingle still more, for their mutual benefit. Opportunity comes now, with the plans for sending thousands of boys, and also girls, from city to country to help with the farm work, where sons and "hands" have gone to the army. There they will live a life more real, perhaps, than they have ever known.

Washington at a Glance

A permanently peaceful, happy, post-war world!
That's what the United Nations are fighting for. Momentarily they're resisting murderation, to be sure. However, their ultimate objective, after attending to the would-be murderers, is to make this planet a safe, pleasant place for all concerned—for the peoples of the Axis nations as well as the United ones.
Vice President Henry A. Wallace made a speech on the subject the other day. Shortly before, State Undersecretary Sumner Welles had made a similar one. In a way Sumner's talk was more impressive than Henry's, because Henry always has been a dyed-in-the-wool altruist, whereas Sumner has gone in quite exclusively for practical diplomacy. Henry says what he hopes for. Sumner tells what he's been definitely figuring on.
There's much economic chat also.

Gallbladder Diseases Difficult To Diagnose

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
WE POINTED out yesterday that the gallbladder is a sort of reservoir for the accumulation of bile but that it is not at all necessary to life because it can be removed without any physiological changes and, in fact, many animals do not possess a gallbladder at all.

Structures of this kind which do not play an active, necessary part in life's processes are very subject to disease and derangement and the gallbladder is no exception to this rule. It is probably as commonly diseased as any other structure in the body in the persons of people over 40 years old. Most of the various derangements are due to infection and this is not surprising since all of the blood from the intestine, which is loaded with bacteria and toxins, goes through the liver and is excreted in the bile and comes to rest for a while in the gallbladder. After this has happened for 30 or 40 years, there are very few people who escape some degree of gallbladder infection.

Effect of Childbirths
As we also pointed out yesterday, pregnancy causes stasis in the gallbladder and prevents its normal emptying so it is not surprising to find that women who have gone through two or three childbirths are more subject to gallbladder disease than men.

The changes which a gallbladder may undergo are bewildering in their variety. They progress from stage to stage or they may stop at any stage and become quiescent, but they produce the whole gamut of human symptoms and illness. The early stage is a mild catarrhal inflammation. At this time bacteria and mucus will be found in the bile which will be thicker than normal in the gallbladder. This may go on either to pus formation or to the formation of gallstones. After gallstones occur, they may be silent or they may begin to move down the duct, causing colic, jaundice and indigestion. The innervation of the gallbladder is mostly from the automatic nervous system which has a connection with the stomach.

The man in the car groaned. He was bent over, one hand against his head.

"I thought you were Joe Algood," said Dian.
"Who in heck's Joe Algood?"
"A friend of mine. Your roadster and his are exactly alike."
"Well, do Joe Algood and I look alike?"
"No, you don't. Joe's dark, and—"
"So am I."
"But Joe wouldn't be thinking about his old head and his old car, if I'd hit him."
"Just what would he be thinking about?"
"About me. He'd be wondering if I was in some sort of trouble."
"Oh! Say, I never thought of that. Are you in some sort of trouble?"
"Yes, I am," said Dian, glancing toward the house. "Have you plenty of gas?"
"Plenty. Had the tank filled this afternoon. I was on my way to New York."
"Oh, fine!" Dian smiled. "I mean about the gas." She leaned close to the young man, appeal in her eyes and voice. "You WILL take me with you, won't you?"
The young man caught his breath. "You mean—to New York?"
"Oh, no," said Dian. "Just out to the farm. I'm running away."
The man eyed her suspiciously. "Running away from what?" he wanted to know.
"Please don't ask questions," Dian begged. "I'll tell you all about it later. I've got to get away at once—right now. It's only a few miles out to grandfather's. It won't take you long, and then you can go on to where you were going when I stopped you."
"Okay!" The young man shrugged. "Hop in. As a matter of fact, I'm running away myself."
"Oh!" said Dian. For a moment she was panicky. Suppose the man was an escaped criminal or something of the sort. Or suppose—she couldn't back out now—not after she had begged the man to take her, and he had consented. She swallowed hard, and said: "Maybe

"The farm was calling! The farm—peace—quiet—a chance to think calmly and sanely. And she had to get out there as quickly as possible. Everything was set! Here was good old Joe Algood and his roadster. She hoped she hadn't hurt him so badly he couldn't drive. But even so—she could drive."

She dashed across the street and stopped, breathless, beside the car she had forced to come to a standstill—almost nudging the bark of the large elm tree.

"Joe Algood!" she cried. "Why on earth didn't you stop when I called?"
The man in the car groaned. He was bent over, one hand pressed against the back of his head.

"Oh, did I hurt you that badly?" Dian cried solicitously.

"Did you see the man in the roadster? What in the devil happened, anyway?"
"I—I—hit you with my shoe," said Dian.

The man straightened up and saw Dian. He gasped. So did Dian. The man in the roadster was a total stranger. Dian had never in all her life seen him before.

It took some seconds for either Dian or the man to recover sufficiently from the shock to speak coherently. The man was the first to locate his voice.

"Do you mean to stand there and tell me you deliberately hit me?" he demanded.

"Yes," said Dian meekly. "I'm terribly sorry."

"You should be," the man snapped. "Do you realize you nearly wrecked my car? I let go the wheel to grab my head, and all but hit this tree."

"Well, I said I was sorry, didn't I?" said Dian crossly.

"A lot of good that does!" The young man got out of the car and walked about looking it over. "A few inches farther and I'd be hanging up on one of the limbs of the tree," he said. He faced Dian, frowning. "Driving along—minding my own business—and some darn fool girl starts throwing shoes. What's the big idea, anyway?"

This nerve supply is of great importance in explaining the symptomatology in gallbladder disease for the symptoms are often referred to the stomach or to the heart or lower chest. In fact, in a study of several thousand patients, it was found that gallbladder disease causes dyspepsia of some type in 20 per cent of all cases. This is a higher percentage of dyspepsia than would be found in an equal number of people who had ulcer of the stomach, cancer of the digestive tract or appendicitis.

Most patients with gallstones, therefore, do not have a frank gallstone colic or attack, but are bothered for years with dyspepsia and gas which they treat with bicarbonate of soda and other remedies without even knowing that the real cause of their distress is in the gallbladder.

Chills, fever, jaundice, loss of appetite, loss of weight and anemia are all possible signs of gallbladder disease. Melancholia and old physicians thought that when a man was melancholy his black bile was in the ascendancy. So the diagnostician must consider carefully before pronouncing judgment on what kind of gallbladder disease is present. Fortunately with the Graham dye test we have a more reliable, positive sign for gallbladder disease than we ever had before.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
W. E.—What is a systolic heart murmur? Would exercise be bad for it and would it be possible for a heart doctor not to discover it during an examination?

Answer: A systolic heart murmur is a murmur that comes with the contraction of the heart. It occurs in all sorts of conditions and is, in fact, the commonest form of heart murmur. It usually does no harm to take exercise with a systolic heart murmur. It would be possible for a heart doctor on an examination to miss anything.

Miss Mary E. Loughhead, extension specialist in foods and nutrition, explains that sun-drying is one of the oldest methods of food preservation known.

The only equipment necessary to sun-dry almost any kind of fruit or vegetable, she says, is a clean surface such as boards, canvas or heavy wrapping paper, and a sloping roof with a southern exposure. The sun will do the rest.

Brining is another easy method for preserving meats and some vegetables—cucumbers, cabbage, string beans, green tomatoes, small beets carrots and corn on the cob. Brine for vegetables is made by mixing on the average of one pound of salt to nine pints of water.

Eggs bought during the spring when they are plentiful and comparatively inexpensive can be kept in good condition for eight or nine months by storing them in a solution of water glass or sodium silicate. The preserving mixture is made by mixing nine parts of boiled water and one part sodium silicate.

The eggs are placed in a crock and the cooled liquid is poured over them slowly, then the top of the crock is covered with a flour sack or square of muslin. Cheese making is one of the oldest known methods of preserving milk. All equipment,

Lovely Party Entertained by Miss Bee Knapp

One of the loveliest and most artistic parties was given Monday evening, when Miss Bee Knapp entertained with a very delightful affair announcing the betrothal of her sister, Miss Helen Knapp, of Mt. Sterling, to Mr. Hugh Starr of that place.

It was an exceptionally pretty party, for which the pretty hostess had made elaborate and most unusual plans.

A profusion of Van Fleet roses, in bud and full bloom, were placed at every vantage point throughout the home, adding their delightful fragrance.

A musicale scheme had been cleverly carried out in the party arrangements, and was most unique. Centering the prettily appointed tables for the dessert course, were miniature baby grand pianos, made of different shades in pottery, filled with the Van Fleet roses.

Marking each place, were tiny victrola records, with a name of a song which in some way described each person. On the other side of the record was the song, "I Love You Truly," by Dan Cupid's Orchestra, with the vocal refrain by Helen and Hugh. September 20, 1942," and in this manner, the happy announcement was made. Of course, everyone gathered round the lovely honor guest, who was attractively gowned in a summer print of mixed colors so becoming to her blonde beauty, asking numerous questions and extending their best wishes and love galore upon the popular young bride-elect.

Bridge was enjoyed throughout the evening with many pleasures extended by the engaging hostess, whose entertaining is always of the most enjoyable.

Lovely gifts for the game were presented to Miss Katherine Chenoweth, Miss Carolyn Young, Mrs. Mac Matheny and Mrs. Fred Ohnewehr.

A lovely gift was also given to Miss Knapp.

The announcement attracts much interest in this city, where the bride-elect has visited on numerous occasions and has a wide circle of friends.

Miss Knapp is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Knapp, of Mt. Sterling. She attended Ohio State University and is now associated with the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission. Mr. Starr, son of Mrs. Helen J. Starr, of Mt. Sterling, received his B. A. Degree from Ohio State University, where he is now a junior in the college of Veterinary Medicine and a member of Delta Tau Delta.

Guests present were Mrs. Clayton Starr, Mrs. Dale Pollack, Mrs. Clarke Looftborow, Mrs. Don Johnson, Miss Peg Gensemer, Miss Mary Frances Thompson, and Miss Barbara Diamond of Columbus. Mrs. Helen J. Starr, Mrs. J. E. Knapp, Mrs. Eugene Hayman, Mrs. Jack Chenoweth, Mrs. Raymond Reiterman, Mrs. R. W. E. ## Nazi Flyer Testifies

Lieut. Hans Peter Krug of the German Luftwaffe has been brought from a Canadian prison camp to Detroit to testify in the trial of Max Stephan, German-born Detroit tavern keeper, who is charged with treason for allegedly helping Krug to escape. The Nazi flyer is pictured above as he was led through the federal building in Detroit. He was recaptured in Texas after fleeing the prison camp.

below Ain El Gazala, 40 miles west of Tobruk, as Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored columns attempted to cut off the key British stronghold.

A British communiqué said the withdrawal was executed successfully by the 50th divisions and the South African 1st division "under cover of a magnificent fight by troops holding positions around Acroma and the first armored division who beat off determined enemy attacks throughout the whole of June 14. Acroma lies 10 miles west of Tobruk.

In the El Adem sector, due south of Tobruk, the British reported that three strong Axis attacks yesterday were repulsed "with heavy loss to the enemy."

Military observers in Cairo, headquarters of Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's British forces, said both sides appeared near the exhaustion-point after three weeks of furious see-saw fighting and that the fifth Libyan offensive probably would "fizzle out in a stalemate."

War in Russia
Hitler's field headquarters indicated that Axis troops had met a stonewall defense in the bloody 11-day-old assault upon Sevastopol, Soviet Black Sea naval base.

The Nazi command said the battle had died down, with only minor fighting yesterday, while the Russians declared that Red army troops supported by German paratroopers threw back a series of furious attacks by German and Rumanian troops.

"A detachment of marines yesterday broke into the enemy trenches and killed 250 Hitlerites," the Russian high command said.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY
CHICAGO, June 16.—(P)—Strength in soybeans, some mill buying and reports of a possible compromise which would give producers full parity loans on major agricultural commodities while granting the Commodity Credit Corporation authority to sell government owned wheat for feeding purposes helped all grain prices to rally today.

Rye, which lagged part of the time, later was affected and the gains about equaled those in wheat. Corn held to a narrowly higher range. The rise in soybeans was credited to moderate commission house demand when offerings were scarce.

The close was at or near the best levels of the session. Wheat finished 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents above Monday's final quotations, July 1.20 1/2, Sept. 1.22 1/4-3/4; corn was 3/4 to 1/2 cent higher, July 86 1/2, Sept. 89 1/2; oats rose 1/2 to 3/4; rye 1 to 1 1/4; soybeans 2 1/4 to 3 1/4 and land was unchanged.

On China Warfront
With Japanese armies rapidly overrunning her eastern provinces, China urged the immediate launching of a major Allied Pacific offensive and declared that if the United Nations continued to be "complacent" toward Japan she might before "the most difficult of the Axis powers to defeat."

A Chinese government spokesman said he differed from any theory that Japan would collapse once Germany was defeated.

On the fighting front, Chinese dispatches said only an 80-mile gap now remained between Japanese columns driving toward each other along the vital Nanchang-Hangchow railway in Chekiang and Kiangsi provinces. Japanese dispatches indicated the gap had been narrowed to 60 miles, with Japanese troops driving eastward along the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway only 10 miles west of Kweki, an important town.

north for an invasion of the American continent.
Aside from their offensive nature, all three ventures would have carried considerable importance as defensive measures as well.

Leaving out the Aleutian scoring pending more complete reports, a compilation of the enemy's losses in the first two engagements, Coral and Midway, add up to 18 ships sunk, including three aircraft carriers and four cruisers; three probably sunk, including one carrier and a cruiser, and at least 27 damaged.

Although it was not mentioned specifically in the naval communiqué, Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, army air chief, said a flight of B-26 bombers had sunk a cruiser in the Aleutians and dropped a torpedo on the deck of a carrier.

In the Army, "going on a 'splursh'" means going on maneuvers.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

The late Monday flurry in air transports and mining issues seemed to have played out. Plus marks were in the majority near the fourth hour.
Brokers again spoke of long-pull demand for industrials as the principal market prop rather than purchases on the idea of any nearby peace.

Candidate Misses Because of Secretary's Error
COLUMBUS, June 16.—(AP)—There will be only three Democratic candidates for nomination for state treasurer at the August primary instead of four because a secretary used the wrong mail address.
John J. Boyle of Marietta came into the secretary of state's office early today bemoaning the fact that his secretary had mailed his petitions to Boyle's office in Cleveland instead of Columbus and that he did not receive them in time to meet Friday's evening's deadline for filing.
The three candidates who filed were Harry F. Armstrong of La Rue, John Charles Fowler of Columbus and Robert S. Cox of Millersburg.

Old Rubber Piling Up in Filling Stations Here

NEARLY 5 TONS IS BROUGHT IN ON FIRST DAY

Nationwide Campaign To Ease Tire Shortage Is Getting Results

Fayette Countians, who have always done their part patriotically when called upon in an emergency, are responding wholeheartedly to the government's call to turn in all scrap rubber, regardless of how small the amount, to filling stations, most of which are taking part in the drive for scrap rubber.

Joseph Coberly, chairman of the filling station collection of rubber in Fayette County, said Tuesday that on the first day approximately 10,000 pounds of rubber was collected at the various stations in the community.

As the drive moves forward, it is expected the amount of scrap rubber will reach into astounding figures in Fayette County, as well as in the state and nation.

Children, as well as grown-ups, have entered into the real spirit of the drive for old rubber, and the list of articles being turned in includes just about everything in the catalog.

Payment of one cent a pound is being made where money is desired, but in most instances the rubber is being turned in without pay and will be sold to dealers and the funds turned over to the USO so that aid may be given to the armed forces.

From Washington, D. C., comes word that America's scrap rubber pile was mounting steadily today as deflated beach alligators, discarded tires, punctured football bladders and what-not, dropped onto it by uncounted thousands of tons.

Specific reports indicating the total that might be collected in the full two weeks of the President's drive here are lacking, but the general comment across the country in the second day of the campaign was that it was off to a good start.

Undersecretary of War Patterson gave it an official push with a statement that the Army itself was cutting its use of rubber in clothing and equipment by 25 percent.

Patterson warned that rubber for civilian use would not be available until 1944 at least.

Some communities already had been scoured almost clean. A committee in Cincinnati, organized soon after Pearl Harbor, had collected 39,000,000 pounds there and the President's rubber drive found little left.

In Minneapolis, nearly 100 tons were collected in the first few hours.

FARM MEETING ON WEDNESDAY IN SPRINGFIELD

Whether Fayette Will Have Official Representative Not Yet Certain

Whether Fayette County would be represented at a meeting of county agricultural committees of this district in Springfield, Wednesday, appeared uncertain Tuesday.

The meeting was called by Frank Funderburg, chairman of the Clark County committee, and is to be held at 8 P. M. in the assembly hall of the Courthouse in Springfield.

Notices of the meeting, sent out on stationery of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, were addressed to "district councillors and friends of agriculture and conservation."

The district, the notices said, includes Clark, Clinton, Champaign, Fayette, Greene, Madison and Logan counties.

The meeting was described as "of vital importance to both farmers and businessmen throughout this district." Brooks Burnside, agricultural agent of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, is to explain in detail that organization's agricultural program and also distribute a descriptive manual concerning it.

The advance notices indicate that such questions as the declining water table and loss of top soil "cannot be stressed too much when Ohio is bending every effort to produce food and munitions for the country's war effort."

Harry Silcott, chairman of the Fayette County USDA War Board and the AAA committee, has been named councillor for the county by the Chamber of Commerce. He said it was doubtful, however, if he could attend, explaining that he had previously arranged for conferences with farm leaders of the state and nation in Columbus on the same day.

Whether anyone else could or would be at the Springfield meeting in his place officially has not been determined. Several Fayette County farmers have expressed intentions of attending the meeting—if the press of farm work does not interfere.

LARGE AMOUNT OF SCRAP IRON WILL BE MOVED

County Commissioners To Dispose of Big Stock of Bridge Steel

Momentum has been given to the collection of scrap metal in Fayette County by decision of the county commissioners to dispose of a heavy accumulation of old bridge iron and steel which has been kept at the County Home farm and other places.

At the Monday session of the county commissioners, decision was reached to turn over as scrap metal, all possible iron and steel which has been accumulating over a period of years.

This is in addition to much metal already disposed of in the shape of old boilers, piping, etc., at the old County Home, some time ago, but which the purchaser has not yet moved to his junk yard.

At the County Home two heavy solid steel sections of a bridge which had been removed a number of years ago, had been in use as a wind break for livestock, and this also is to be scrapped.

In all probability there will be hundreds of tons of this surplus steel and iron which will be turned into proper channels for aiding in the war.

The drive for scrap metal generally is moving forward, with a tremendous amount of steel, iron and other metals having been disposed of in the county in recent months.

At the cemetery the American Legion ritual was carried out. Howard Fogle, commander of Paul H. ## COUNTY SCOUTS TO GO TO REVUE AND BALL GAME

Thursday Night Event at Columbus To Take Place Of Scout-O-Rama

Approximately 75 Boy Scouts from Fayette County will take part in a mass scout revue Thursday night with 5,000 other Scouts from all over the state, when they meet in the Red Bird Stadium in Columbus for the first annual Boy Scout Night and see a game between the Red Birds and the Milwaukee Brewers.

Tickets are being sold in Fayette County by the Scouts here and all of the choice seats in the stadium are being taken, it was announced by J. W. Yates, scoutmaster of Troop 170, in the absence of Harold Layman, scout executive now on vacation.

While the sale of tickets continues, scout officials are going ahead with plans to present their entire troop membership in the grand entry which will be an outstanding feature of the program. In this review, 5,000 uniformed scouts from all troops in the state, will raise the colors and appear in formation on the field. The program will get under way at 7 P. M. and the Red Bird-Brewer will start at 8 P. M.

The proceeds of the game will be used to pay off the existing debt on the new swimming pool at the Lazarus Boy Scout Reservation north of Columbus. The Scout Night at the stadium has been substituted for the big annual Scout-O-Rama which is usually held in the Coliseum on the state fairgrounds. The fairground and the Coliseum are not available this year.

More Scouts from Fayette County would probably attend the game, Yates said, but the transportation problem has some what curtailed their plans. The entire Children's Home troop will attend, however, he said.
